1. Open the store page.
2. Press Add to Chrome, then Add extension.
3. Press the puzzle icon and pin Geervanee.

Brave

1. Open the store page. Brave uses the Chrome store.
2. Press Add to Brave.
3. Pin Geervanee.

Edge

1. Open the store page.
2. Press Get, then Add extension.
3. Press the puzzle icon and show Geervanee in the toolbar.

Firefox (128 or later)

1. Open the add-on page.
2. Press Add to Firefox, then Add.
3. Allow se.census.gov.in if asked.

Safari (Mac)

1. Get the app and open it once.
2. Safari → Settings → Extensions → turn on Geervanee.
3. Allow it on se.census.gov.in.

Safari (iPhone, iPad)

1. Get the app.
2. Settings → Apps → Safari → Extensions → Geervanee → on.
3. Open se.census.gov.in, tap the page menu in the address bar, tap Geervanee and choose Allow.

On iPad the page menu is the puzzle icon in the address bar.

Then: click the Geervanee icon in the toolbar to open it. Where is the store page? The button for each browser is on geervanee.in/mama-bhasha-samskrtam.php#install and appears as soon as that store has approved the extension.

GOOD TO KNOW

What it asks for, and why

Three permissions, in plain words.

Access to se.census.gov.in
To show the guide card on the Census portal. It runs on no other site.

Active tab
To see, when you open the launcher, whether you are on the Census portal.

Storage
To remember the order of your icons, on your own device.

Your privacy

The extension does not collect, sell or share personal data. It has no account, no analytics and no advertising, and makes no network requests of its own. It does not read what you type, and it stores and sends nothing. The full statement is at geervanee.in/extension-privacy.

Things to remember

It does not fill the form for you
You answer. If you press Find Sanskrit, it can choose Sanskrit in the field you clicked; you check it.

Answer truthfully
Enter Sanskrit only where it is true for that person, and answer for each person separately.

For computers
The extension is for computers. Open the install page on your computer to install it.

How to remove it
Open your browser's extensions page, choose Geervanee and press Remove. Safari: Settings → Extensions → Uninstall.
